Having enriched experience in knowledge management, research design, research tool development, interactive MIS (Management Information System), program management, GIS and remote sensing, data modeling, monitoring and assessment I served broader developmental concerns. My expertise in social exclusion, health system analytic, nutritional surveillance, malnutrition, food security, health care seeking behavior assessment and eco-system services framework has been acknowledged widely. Participatory Rapid Appraisals cuts across diverse states and action research on social determinants and equity issues in health at urban centers such as Mumbai and Delhi have strengthened my expertise in the domain. Mainly I worked on social exclusion, vulnerability assessment, equity in health care provisioning and its access as well as on social determinants of health. Experience with national and global partners in academia as well as in development sector adds more value to the profile.

Realizing the need of information management systems for efficient modeling, monitoring and evidence based planning, I equipped myself with skills to simplify dense conceptual concepts and multi-variate findings into simple info-graphic narrative. Committed to information and knowledge dissemination, I also curated knowledge platforms i.e. national, international conferences, workshops and symposiums as well as curated the resource groups on virtual knowledge-management platforms.

Experience

Assistant Professor

Central University of Jammu, July 2016 onwards

Engaged in full time teaching and research in Department of Social Work at Central University of Jammu.

Assistant Director

Fiinnovation, Feb 2016 – July 2016

Fiinnovation initiated a proposal research lab while focusing mainly on health, environment, livelihood and education. Here I was responsible from designing the conceptual framework for the proposals while working on various programs. Knowledge management in these disciplines is also one of my responsibility in the organization.

Senior Researcher

JNU, Aug 2015 – Jan 2016

While working on Eco-System Services benefits, GIS and Remote Sensing Modeling was used to analyze the risk and responses in urban periphery in the National Capital Region (NCR) for future urban development planning. This was a collaborative project between Jawaharlal Nehru University, University of Sussex and International Water Management Institute. In this global partnership my contribution was building the spatio-temporal mapping strand for National Capital Region, Delhi.

Researcher and Project Coordinator

CSDS (SADED), April 2013 - March 2015

The commitment of South Asian Dialogues on Ecological Democracy (SADED) to tracking hunger and malnutrition engaged me to develop community surveillance tool for the same. Coordination support has also been provided to document the policy consultation meet on hunger and malnutrition. A nationwide research was under my supervision which was focussed to analyse the health seeking behaviour of urban population, focussing mainly on usage of traditional knowledge. During this tenure, a video documentary, 'Quest: Exploring the Himalaya' has also been produced, where I was the single man crew on 15419 feet above mean sea level. This film got screened at Helsinki (Finland) during World Himalaya Day on 9th Sep.2015.

Coordinator People's SAARC

GCAP, November-December 2014

Global Call to Action against Poverty (GCAP), co-hosted five different events on gender, dalit rights and disaster risk reduction issues during People's SAARC at Kathmandu, Nepal. Consultation and Coordination support has been provided to the campaign with logistics, managerial, administrative and documentation support. It was a global event which involved partner management from South Asia region.

Consultant

Mobile Crèches, August 2013

In Delhi, Mobile Crèches provide crèche service to informal sector worker's children. On the basis of anthropometric measurements of more than six thousand children for every month I analysed their nutritional status and the linkages between change in nutritional status and their stay in the crèche for programme year 2012-13.

Consultant

Oxfam India, Dec 2012 – Feb 2013

Provided the coordination support for GROW Campaign with research, documentation and design inputs and documented the campaign initiatives along with Hunger Reduction Commitment Index launch as well as coordination support for national policy consultation on hunger and malnutrition.

Project Officer

Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi, Jan-Mar 2012

It was part of a study, assigned by Ministry of Women and Child Development, on 'Reproductive Tourism: An Ethnographic Study on Surrogacy' under the direct supervision of project director.

Programme Coordinator (Part Time)

Public Health Resource Network, New Delhi, April-June 2008

Indira Gandhi National Open University (IGNOU) with collaboration of Public Health Resource Network initiated a distance learning course for Post Graduate Diploma in District Health Management. The learning modules for the course have been designed for the said course.

Education
